

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

The first three quarters of 2019 has been an extremely busy, but an exciting period for Anadach - working with old and new clients in several countries across different regions, and collaborating with new partners including several multi-national companies. Please feel free to approach us for new assignments, innovative ideas, projects or staffing requirements to improve health for all.

The next couple of months promises to be as busy, with Anadach involved in several exciting events. The Healthcare Federation of Nigeria in partnership with Anadach is organizing a workshop on 'Growing Small and Medium Healthcare Businesses in West Africa' at the upcoming Medic West Africa conference and Exhibition holding at Eko Hotel Convention Center, Victoria Island, Lagos, Nigeria on October 9th, 2019. We will keep you posted on these events as the dates firm up. More information to come shortly on our website, but do reach out to us if you have any interest in working with us on this event.

We are hosting/partnering on these events as we believe it is an excellent way to network with industry peers, develop new relationships and collaborate on common goals. We look forward to seeing you!

*Best
The Anadach Team*

UPCOMING EVENT

The Healthcare Federation of Nigeria in partnership with Anadach is organizing a workshop on 'Growing Small and Medium Healthcare Businesses in West Africa' at the upcoming Medic West Africa conference and Exhibition holding at Eko Hotel Convention Center, Victoria Island, Lagos, Nigeria on October 9th, 2019. The workshop aims to build capacity of healthcare professionals in key aspects of running a business including financial, legal and management issues that may inhibit growth in Healthcare SME's. It will host speakers from across West Africa including experts in various areas, financiers and successful entrepreneurs sharing their personal experiences on growing successful healthcare businesses including overcoming challenges.

PAST EVENT

MALARIA TRAINING AT DANGOTE INDUSTRIES, 2019, NIGERIA:

The Anadach team has been working with The Aliko Dangote Foundation to train the staff of Dangote Industries on Malaria prevention and control. As the UN Malaria Ambassador of Nigeria, Aliko Dangote GCON, believes it is important that all staff have adequate information to help prevent themselves or families from malaria. Over the past 6 months, we have visited various work sites and trained selected staff on the basics, treatment, control and prevention of Malaria. These staff are expected to become malaria champions within the organization and help spread accurate information. In the course of the pre-training assessment, misinformation and wrong information was identified, which appeared to have significantly improved on post-training assessment. We hope in the long run, this training will contribute to a reduction in absenteeism due to Malaria. If your company is interested in this sort of training for malaria - the number one cause of work absenteeism in several African countries, please feel to reach out to us for further information.

Health in Africa: the role of private sector in health and pharmaceuticals

Healthcare in Africa is fraught with several challenges, from poor infrastructure to counterfeit drugs, health worker shortage and poor access to quality health services. A large population, widespread poverty and conflict have all contributed to the poor health outcomes experienced across the continent. With 24% of the global disease burden and 11% of the world's population, Sub-Saharan Africa commands less than 1% of the world's...
