

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

The first quarter of 2019 has been an extremely busy and an exciting period for Anadach - working with old and new clients in several countries, and collaborating with new partners including several multi-national companies. Please feel free to approach us for new assignments, innovative ideas, projects or staffing requirements to improve health for all.

The next couple of months promises to be as busy, with Anadach being involved in several exciting events. On 4th - 5th June, Anadach will be partnering on the Africa Pharma Conference 2019 in Johannesburg, South Africa. On 21st June, Anadach will co-host the Nigerian Healthcare Excellence Award 2019 which is deemed the Oscar of the Nigerian Healthcare sector. That same week Dr. Egbe Osifo-Dawodu, will be attending and moderating a health panel at the U.S.-Africa Business Summit 2019 in Maputo, Mozambique.

We are hosting/partnering on these events as we believe it is an excellent way to network with industry peers, develop new relationships and collaborate on common goals. We look forward to seeing you!

*Best
The Anadach Team*

PAST EVENT

The AFRICAN BUSINESS & SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY Forum February 27th & 28th, 2019, Kigali, Rwanda: The Third edition of the African Business and Social Responsibility Forum took place in Kigali with a theme of "unleashing the CSR potential of African Businesses". The conference facilitated discussions around "Education, Employment and Social Commitment: What Models for Sustainable and Inclusive Growth? Dr. Maraki Fikre, Vice-President of East Africa and Middle East, participated in the panel discussion on "Human Capital Development: How to reduce the gap between the skills generated by education systems and the expectations of the job market?" bringing a health perspective. Especially in light of the new digital innovations and technology, the conference revealed the significant potential Africa businesses can contribute, through their social responsibility programs, to a more scalable and sustainable model for job creation and shaping the "next generation leaders and innovators".

News

Drs Egbe Osifo-Dawodu and Jim Rice (Advisory Board Member) recently were co-authors in an article "Better Board Education for Better Leadership and Management in the Health Sectors of Low and Middle Income Countries": Good board work is essential to establish and oversee: policies, the work of healthcare providers and managers needed for the vitality of health sector organizations, and the wise use of funds allocated into the health sectors of Low and Middle Income Countries (LMICs). Unfortunately, boards and good governance are not well-understood, and often overlooked, in the design, development and management of high performing health sectors in LMICs... Read More

Dangote Malaria Training Program: Anadach Group working with the Aliko Dangote Foundation, is currently implementing a pilot malaria training program for Malaria Champions across all Dangote Group's business units across Nigeria. Malaria is the number one cause of absenteeism in the workplace, and results in a loss of up 1% of Nigeria's GDP. We are enjoying working, closely with the Health, Safety and Environmental Team on this innovative program which is focusing on empowering staff to reduce malaria incidence of themselves, their families and colleagues.

Survey

Nigeria - Healthcare Graduate Career Survey: The purpose of this survey is to understand what recent Nigerian healthcare university graduates (after 2006) are doing after graduation. This research is conducted by Anadach Group. Your answers will remain confidential and anonymous.

This brief survey is divided into three sections and takes no more than five to seven minutes to complete. By providing your contact details and submitting your responses, you will be automatically entered into a lucky draw to win a free slot to attend an Anadach Training Program and N10,000 or USD25 in cash. Thank you for participating. Please feel free to forward the survey to potential participants in the appropriate graduating period.
